

Karima Holmes is a dedicated emergency services leader. During my time working with her I have seen her passion for public safety and saving lives. She demands the highest of standards from technology providers and her staff as she knows the magnitude of the importance of her role.

She also works within the 911 and communications Boards, associations and mentoring groups to advance other leaders, share and exchange best practices. Her voice is being heard at all levels of government. She served on the FIRSTNET authority Board and has testified in Capitol Hill to advance the capabilities of 911 services across the country.

Stacy Schwartz
Head of US Public Sector and Education
RingCentral